Dear Ms. Refaeli,

I hope this message finds you well. I was disappointed to see photos in which you were promoting real fox fur, especially in light of the historic bill to ban the fur trade in Israel. You probably weren't aware that numerous undercover investigations have revealed that foxes, minks, coyotes, and rabbits—and even cats and dogs—are bludgeoned, genitally electrocuted, and often skinned alive for their pelts. After watching just a few minutes of this video, you will, I hope, agree that wearing fur makes even the most beautiful people in the world look insensitive. On behalf of my friends at PETA, the International Anti-Fur Coalition, and kind people everywhere, I urge you to be a model of compassion by pledging never to promote the hideous fur trade again.

Thanks for your time and attention. Should you have any questions, I can be reached through PETA Senior Vice President Dan Mathews at [REDACTED].

Sincerely,
