

I am not a handbag, a belt, or a pair of shoes

I am a living being—just like you

Live lizards are often hacked apart with a machete, live snakes are nailed to trees and skinned, and a metal rod is rammed down the spines of live alligators and crocodiles—all just to make exotic-skin products. Many of these animals are even skinned alive.

If you are considering buying an exotic-skin bag or belt, remember that just like us, all animals are made of flesh and blood and can suffer and feel pain and fear. Help spare animals a miserable life and a violent death by leaving exotic skins out of your wardrobe and choosing mock croc, fake snake, or other vegan accessories.
