His Excellency Andrej Plenković
Prime Minister of Croatia

Your Excellency,

I was delighted to learn that Croatia's ban on fur farming went into effect on 1 January after having been threatened by furriers for so many years. The closing of fur farms in Croatia means that the fur industry's tiniest victims – chinchillas – will no longer be confined to filthy, cramped cages, they will no longer be electrocuted and their little necks will no longer be broken.

On behalf of my friends at PETA and Animal Friends Croatia, thank you for spreading a message of compassion towards animals and setting a historic example for other countries to follow.

With much respect,

Sharon Osbourne
