MENTAL HEALTH SUFFERS IN LOCKDOWN.

JUST ASK HIM.

This is Cornelius, aka monkey number r10033. He was born in 2010 at the University of Wisconsin–Madison National Primate Research Center. Raised without his mother, he has been caged all alone and used in experiments that have left him traumatized, depressed, and apparently without the will to live.

Not a minute of Cornelius' life has been spent in freedom—and not a minute more should be spent in a barren laboratory. Please urge UW-Madison to release him to a reputable sanctuary, where he can live out the rest of his days free from loneliness, dread, and despair.
