M9958	Jamison Packing	3/29/2022	HATS Category (VIII): Stunning Effectiveness On March 29th at approximately 8:30, while performing the Stunning Effectiveness Category of the Livestock Humane Handling task at Est.9958, I observed the following noncompliance. REDACTED moved a Heifer into the stunning pen and, after observing the animal's behavior, indicated he was going to use a .22 pistol. I retreated to the safe area and heard the firearm report. After a moment of not hearing anything, I peeked around at the stunning pen and observed the animal's head moving around above the gate of the stunning pen which indicated that the animal was standing and fully conscious. REDACTED indicated that he was going to shoot again so I moved back into the safe area. I heard the second shot and then heard REDACTED give the "all clear". I then observed the unconscious animal roll out of the stunning pen and it remained unconscious during sticking, bleeding, and subsequent dressing. I then observed the head after skinning and was able to see two holes approximately two inches apart in the midline of the skull. No regulatory control action was taken due to the effective corrective action that was taken by REDACTED. This is a noncompliance with 9CFR 313.16(a)(1). A search of Non-compliance Records from the past 90 days indicates that there was another unsuccessful stun on 1/19/22. REDACTED was given a copy of this noncompliance report.
M9958	Jamison Packing	3/1/2022	HATS Category III: Water and Feed Availability On March 1st, 2022, at approximately 7:30, while performing an antemortem inspection and the Livestock Humane Handling task at Est 9958, REDACTED and I, REDACTED, observed a large black water trough in pen 7 that was dry. Pen 7 contained 3 beef. There was no other accessibility to water. REDACTED was informed of the issue and he then filled the water trough with water. No regulatory control action was taken as water was immediately provided. A search of PHIS found no water availability NRs in the previous 90 days. This is a noncompliance with 9CFR 313.2. REDACTED, was given a copy of this noncompliance report.
M9958	Jamison Packing	1/19/2022	HATS Category VIII - Stunning Effectiveness. On Wednesday January 19th, 2022 at approximately 1030 am, while performing the Stunning Effectiveness category of the Livestock Humane Handling task, I REDACTED observed the following non-compliance during slaughter. I observed the stunning operator, REDACTED, attempt to stun a steer in the stun box with a penetrating captive bolt gun. I was standing approximately 10-15 feet from the stun box and I could see the animal's face . The animal started getting rowdy before the first attempted stun. I heard the first shot and then observed that the steer was still fully conscious, standing, and aware of its surroundings due to eye tracing and blinking. REDACTED immediately retrieved the back-up captive bolt and attempted to stun the steer a second time and it did not fire. REDACTED immediately handed REDACTED the .22 pistol (last resort) and yelled "firearm". When I got to the Hallway of the entrance, I heard one shot, and heard the animal drop. REDACTED said "ok" and I came out to see the animal was unconscious, and

M9958	Jamison Packing	5/5/2021	Slip and Fall Category- Humane Handling Verification While performing the slip and fall category of the Humane Handling Verification task on Wednesday May 5th, 2021 at 7:20am, I, REDACTED, observed the following deficiencies at Est. 9958. The employees had driven two cattle into the knock box alley way. As they were guiding them through, I was standing at the front of the stun box. I observed cattle #1 slip a couple times but did not lose its footing. Then I moved to the side of the stun box. As the employees were driving them from behind into the stun box from the alleyway, I saw cattle #2 tumble forward and fall. Both animals were standing upright after the incident and did not appear to be injured or in distress. This does not meet regulatory regulation 9 CFR 313.1. REDACTED was notified of this noncompliance verbally and was given this noncompliance record.
