Dear President Daniels and Dr. DeWeese:

Thank you in advance for your time. I'm writing on behalf of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals—PETA entities have more than 9 million members and supporters globally.

Readers of today's edition of The Johns Hopkins News-Letter will notice our petition, featured as a full-page ad, that reveals a statement signed by more than 1,000 individuals who have been diagnosed with attention disorders and are calling on Johns Hopkins University (JHU) to end its invasive experiments on owls being conducted by Shreesh Mysore, who performs these tests purportedly in attempts to study attention disorders in humans.

We're also launching a video today that showcases testimonials from people with attention disorders who are holding "Talk to Me. Stop Torturing Owls" signs, urging Mysore to talk with them to learn what they actually need instead of experiments that pretend to show us something about attention disorders by cutting open barn owls' skulls, screwing metal devices into their heads, restraining the birds, bombarding them for hours with noises and lights, poking electrodes in their brains, and mutilating their brain tissue so severely that they become "unusable" to him—at which point he kills them.

People diagnosed with attention disorders are demanding better, animal-free science—and they're ready to help. We urge JHU to do right by this community, specifically by shutting down Mysore's cruel owl experiments, which violated Maryland state law for years, in favor of more effective, non-animal, and human-relevant methods.

You can contact me at ShriyaS@peta.org. I look forward to your response. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Shriya Swaminathan
Science Policy Advisor, International Laboratory Methods

More than 1,000 individuals with attention disorders have a message for Johns Hopkins University:

END CRUEL, INVASIVE BRAIN EXPERIMENTS ON OWLS.

© iStock.com/Jaroslav Macenauer

Having been diagnosed with attention disorders, we, the undersigned, urge Johns Hopkins University to end the horrific and invasive experiments on owls being conducted in purported attempts to study attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder in humans. These experiments waste millions of taxpayer dollars while failing to deliver any meaningful advances to human health. Please support our community by championing ethical, human-focused research.
